Using Digital Educational Technologies in Studying Biochemistry

S. V. Romantsova, S. N. Romantsov, S. E. Sinyutina, L. V. Rosenblum

Derzhavin Tambov State University, Tambov, Russia;
Tambov State Technical University, Tambov, Russia

Keywords: biochemistry; online learning; digitalization of education; digital technologies.

Abstract: The advantages and disadvantages of online education are analyzed in relation to the study of fundamental disciplines. The experience of using digital technologies in organizing the teaching of biochemistry to students of higher educational institutions is described. A program for calculating indicators of the biological value of protein has been developed and introduced into the educational process.