

Methodical Approaches to Forecasting Development Parameters of Regional Fruit and Vegetable Growing Complex

I.P. Shalyapina; N.Yu. Kuzicheva

Michurinsk State Agricultural University

Key words and phrases: vegetable growing; fruit and vegetable growing complex; branch product; approaches to forecasting; production parameters; gardening.

Abstract: The algorithm of planning basic parameters of development of regional fruit and vegetable growing subcomplex with regard for economic interests of participants of tinned fruits market is proposed. The development of companies should be regulated by forecasting the demand for finished branch product and production parameters of every company concerned.
