Key words and phrases: quality control over products requirements; quality control system; improvement of state system of quality control; products requirements.

Abstract: National system of quality control is characterized by disunity of regulation since products requirements are developed in different public offices and duplicate each other quite often. An important step in national economical policy was the adoption of the Federal law No 184-FL “About Technical Regulation” on December 15, 2002. This law enables to reform the system of obligatory requirements to products, production processes, operation, transportation, storage, realization and utilization, providing services and operations as well as valuation and quality conformance confirmation.
