

Analysis of Stages of Development of Human Resources Management System

L.S. Popova

Tambov State Technical University, Tambov

Key words and phrases: matrix of relations, stages of development of the system, human resources management.

Abstract: The analysis of stages of development of human resources management system through the matrix of relations is carried out; it enables to identify the level of system development as well as kinds of activity on personnel management, which must be included in the system to achieve the objectives of the organization.
