

Planting Technique as Important Factor of Efficient Realization of Potential of Seed Productivity of Hairy Cure Clover

G.A. Arkova

Michurinsk State Agrarian University, Michurinsk

Key words and phrases: cure clover; planting technique; nurse crops; elements of productivity; crop yield.

Abstract: Cultivation as well as soil and climate conditions influence the total yield and quality of hairy cure clover seed. On the basis of experimental data the dependence of crop yield of hairy cure clover on nurse crops and meteorological conditions is found out.