

Public Transport Flows Optimization in Urban Environment

M.E. Koryagin, O.S. Semenova

Kuzbass State Technical University, Kemerovo

Key words and phrases: convex programming; city public transport, Markov processes, multivariable function.

Abstract: The optimization of public transport headway is described. Municipal transport and private express buses carry passengers; some passengers have commuting perks. The aim is to minimize total transport expenses and passengers' waiting time loss. The sensitivity analysis of the model is made.