

Formation of Key Competencies of Professional Participants of Financial Market in Business Education System

N.V. Kochetkova, E.P. Pecherskaya

Samara State University of Economics, Samara

Key words and phrases: professional participants of financial market; competencies; business education.

Abstract: This paper proves the need for professional preparation of financial market participants in the system of business education so that they could pass the qualification exams of the Federal Service for Financial Markets. In the context of the examined problem of professional preparation of financial market participants, the model of competences for specialists of the above mentioned profile has been made.