Prerequisites for Forming of the System of Quality Management of Decision-Making in Investment Construction Companies

R.V. Burukhanova

UNIVER Kapital, Ltd., Moscow

Key words and phrases: investment construction company; quality of the taken decision; mechanisms of quality management; quality management.

Abstract: The paper deals with the system of quality management of the taken decisions as the sub-system of the TQM system in investment construction company, which is supposed to coordinate the work of all levels of management as well as the directions of its activity on the basis of optimization of the strategic potential structure and effectiveness of using its possibilities, thus enabling to maintain adaptive stability on the market in terms of changing market conditions.