

Branch Structure Optimization as Farming Improvement Factor

A.B. Smagina

Michurinsk State Agrarian University, Michurinsk

Key words and phrases: farming; branch structure; optimization; efficiency.

Abstract: The paper shows the role of economic-mathematical model of branch structure optimization to determine optimum parameters of the agricultural enterprise functioning taking into account the development of all agricultural branches. The given model implementation has allowed raising economic efficiency of the enterprise considerably.