

Communication Competence as Important Component of Pre-Professional Training

E.A. Rakitina, V.S. Bondarsky

Tambov State Technical University, Tambov

Key words and phrases: sociability; communication activity; interactive information; information communication technologies; priority professional qualities.

Abstract: The paper presents some ways of representing different messages, accent changing, identification and analysis of incentives from different points of view including the matter of involving the student in active communicative activity.