

Improvement of Educational Process Quality via New Information Technology

Z.N. Kazhanova

Tambov State Technical University, Tambov

Key words and phrases: technology; study aids; new IT; audiovisual information.

Abstract: The given article studies the problem of improvement of educational process quality by means of various information technologies. Special attention is given to the roles of means and new information technologies in the course of teaching a foreign language.