

Impact of Psychological and Pedagogical Features of Ecologist's Professional Work within Professional Training in University

A.V. Kozachek

Tambov State Technical University, Tambov

Key words and phrases: professional work; psychic processes; psychic phenomena; ecological student; ecological education.

Abstract: The paper reveals main psychological and pedagogical features of professional work of the ecologist. The main psychic processes connected with the ecologist's professional work and professional training are analyzed. The tasks of these features reflection within the framework of ecological training in the university are identified.