

Theoretical Aspects of System Modeling of Future Civil Workers' Moral Qualities Development

A.V. Korosten

Povolzhye Academy of State Service named after P.A. Stolypin, Saratov

Key words and phrases: individual; modeling; motivation-value; content technology and result-diagnosis components; professional training; social purpose-oriented component.

Abstract: The paper studies the course of development of future specialist as individual, robust and responsible subject of socio-professional work possessing high level of general and professional culture. The new approaches to professional training of future civil workers and improvement of their moral qualities are developed.