

Distant Technologies as Means of Professional Self-Development of Technical University Students

I.V. Mikhalets, I.Yu. Rogashova

Penza State Technological Academy, Penza

Key words and phrases: higher technical school; distant technologies; elements of distant technologies.

Abstract: The paper studies the possibilities of application of distant technologies elements as means of professional self-developments of technical university students on the example of higher educational professional establishment «Penza State Technological Academy».