

Some Aspects of Historical Development of Primary Natural Science Education

N.I. Rudneva, A.B. Konobeeva

Michurinsk State Agrarian University, Michurinsk

Key words and phrases: natural science; natural science education; grounds of science; cathedral schools; community schools; parishioner schools.

Abstract: Understanding of peculiarities of historical development of natural science education, detailed analysis of its content will enable in the future to avoid problems and mistakes, reach the new level of content meeting the requirements of international educational standards. Thus studying of the content of natural science education at different stages of society development seems up-to-date and essential.