

Natural Science Training of Students in Michurinsk State Teachers' Training Institute

A.B. Konobeeva

Michurinsk State Agrarian University, Michurinsk

Key words and phrases: European Higher Education Area; natural science education; education modernization; system of multi-level natural science education; ecological culture.

Abstract: The development of natural science education in universities is closely linked with the process of modernization of education. The development of ecological culture, changing in the environment, natural resources require the improvement of teaching resources for lectures on the natural science course as well as teaching methods. The quality of natural science higher education depends on the level of natural science training of learners and the qualifications of teaching staff.