

Development of Technology of Jelly Candies of the Functional Purpose

D.V. Leonov, E.I. Muratova

Tambov State Technical University

Key words and phrases: candies; functional product; jelly mass; phytonutrients; rheological properties.

Abstract: The analysis of the influence of the complex of biologically active substances on physical and chemical, organoleptic, microbiological and rheological characteristics of jelly mass and candies is carried out. The recipes of the new kinds of candies of the functional purpose are developed and technological modes of their manufacture are proved.