

Method of Monitoring Reliability Parameters of Information Security Devices in Bank Using their Current Operating Data

S.V. Popov, V.N. Shamkin

Tambov State Technical University, Tambov

Key words and phrases: content analysis; information security; information security event; information security incident; log; malfunctioning; reliability parameters.

Abstract: The paper presents the method enabling the administrator to receive regularly updated data from data protection logs located on the lower level of the bank security system. These data characterizes reliability of separate components of these means of protection, as well as each of them separately.

© С.В. Попов, В.Н. Шамкин, 2012