
V.I. Vernadsky and Modern Meteorology

N.A. Zaitseva

Russian Academy of Sciences, Moscow

Key words and phrases: international cooperation; meteorology; weather forecasting; World Metrological Organization; World Weather Watch.

Abstract: The paper provides information on the participation of V.I. Vernadsky in the analysis of the state of meteorology as a scientific discipline in Russia and abroad, and his role in organizing the weather service in the young Soviet republic. A brief description of the current state of technical equipment, and meteorological observations in Russia and abroad has been given.