
Criminal Law Measures Preventing the Spread of Drug Dependence: New Legislation of Russia

M.G. Kovalerova

Tambov State Technical University, Tambov

Key words and phrases: compulsory treatment; drug addiction; exemption from punishment; prevention of crime; sentence.

Abstract: The paper explores the issues of preventing drug addiction which is a threat to the normal development of the state and society as a whole. The novelties of current penal enforcement legislation aimed at preventing the spread of drug addiction in our country have been investigated. The findings on the effectiveness of their application to fight against drug addiction in the country have been presented.