

Model of Environmental Culture Development of Civil Servants through Recreational Health Technologies

I.S. Ivanov

Tambov State University named after G.R. Derzhavin, Tambov

Key words and phrases: complex model; ecology; environment; environmental culture; formation; levels; methods; modeling; municipal service; recreation; recreational health technology.

Abstract: The paper explores the essence and specifics of socio-cultural peculiarities of developing environmental culture of civil servants. The complex model of developing environmental culture of municipal servants has been described. Its units, levels, criteria, parameters, components, conditions and methods have been described. Their implementation enables to develop the environmental culture of civil servants in the most effective way.
