

Development of Methodological Management Tools of Cost Accounting in Livestock through ABC-Based Method

D.V. Mandzhieva

Kalmyk State University, Elista

Key words and phrases: accounting; administrative analysis; agriculture; center of costs; costs; management accounting; livestock; methods of cost accounting.

Abstract: The article explores the main similarities and differences in terms of costs and cost accounting by the ABC method and the traditional method of calculation of production costs in livestock. It is proposed to use the main stages of organization of control of cost centers in livestock.
