

The Technique of Developing General Cultural and Professional Competences in Masters throughout the Study of Computer Technology at University

E. V. Bogomolova

S. A. Yesenin Ryazan State University, Ryazan

Key words and phrases: computer technology; general cultural and professional competences of Masters; Master training.

Abstract: The paper describes a method of developing general cultural and professional competences of Masters during their training in the field of information and communication technologies at university.