

Public-Private Partnership as One of the Promising Growth Models for Company Capitalization in the Housing and Utilities Sector

M. A. H. Garbavi

Tambov State Technical University, Tambov, Russia

Keywords: public-private partnership; Department of Housing and Utilities; capitalization; financial instruments and mechanisms.

Abstract: The existing approaches to the formation and development of promising models for increasing the capitalization of companies in the housing and utilities sector as a financial mechanism for the company's growth are considered and analyzed by obtaining guaranteed income from participating in the implementation of socially significant projects in the field of life support on mutually beneficial terms.