

Floating Eco-Volunteer Team as a Means of Implementing Environmental Policy and Educational Process in a “Green” Higher Education Institution

S. A. Strulev, A. V. Suzyumov, A. V. Kozachek, A. V. Ivanov, E. S. Mishchenko

Tambov State Technical University, Tambov, Russia; Institute of Geography of the Russian Academy of Sciences, Moscow, Russia

Keywords: floating eco-volunteer team; field work; “Flotilla of floating universities”; eco-volunteers; expedition.

Abstract: The preparation for the implementation of a new project in the field of environmental volunteering is considered from the point of view of promoting environmental policy and organizing educational activities in a “green” university. The main distinguishing feature of the project is its form of organization in the form of a mobile floating expeditionary detachment that solves environmental, educational and other tasks. Such aspects as the formation of the goals and objectives of the detachment, the development of paraphernalia and others are presented.